Silver Technology

Through years of research and development, the American Biotech Labs® team has been able to develop and patent a unique manufacturing process that creates a much more stable silver product. This new silver technology utilizes an engineered metallic nano-silver particle that has a thin coating, or "skin", of multi-valent silver oxide. With more than seven million units containing this unique silver technology sold, it has become the top choice of thousands of doctors, medical professionals, and families worldwide.
